Notes: Types of Sentences

Declarative:

A declarative sentence is a statement. It ends in a period.

Example: The sun is bright.

Exclamatory:

An exclamatory sentence shows strong feeling. It ends in an exclamation point.

Example: I can’t believe I slept through my alarm!

Interrogative:

An interrogative sentence asks a question. It ends in a question mark.

RICH TIP: Remember the word interrogation, something detectives do when they ask questions to a suspect.

Example: Have you seen any good movies lately?

Imperative:

An imperative sentence gives a command. It can end in a period or an exclamation point.

Example: Do your homework.
Notes: Types of Sentences

Declarative:
A declarative sentence is a ____________________. It ends in a ________________.
Example: ________________________________________________________________

Exclamatory:
An exclamatory sentence shows ________________ ________________. It ends in an
______________ ________________ ________________.
Example: ________________________________________________________________

Interrogative:
An interrogative sentence asks a ___________________. It ends in a ________________
______________________________
RICH TIP: Remember the word __________________________, something ______________ do when they ask questions to a suspect.
Example: ________________________________________________________________

Imperative:
An imperative sentence gives a _________________. It can end in a ________________ or an ________________________ ________________________ Example: ________________________________________________________________